Internet Marketing and E-commerce for Online Shops : How To Get More Customers and Which Online E-Commerce Retail Methods Work Best What has 15 letters and 13 more zeros? - brentm ===== PaulHoule 12,784,192 is the answer ----- yawaramin Perl 5,674 india Updated: Jan 09, 2019 23:30 IST A 25-year-old man arrested for allegedly carrying arms at a checkpoint in Raipur was granted bail on Wednesday after the police submitted his Class XII certificate in support of the claim that he was barely 19 years old when he joined the Maoist outfit. "We had suggested that the police may conduct an investigation to check if the person is really an adult. We had filed a case of unlawful conspiracy under the Indian Penal Code (IPC) and provisions of Arms Act in court," said R.K. Mishra, superintendent of police (south). In its petition, the police have said that the man, who has been identified as Muneesh Mishra, now studying B.Tech in the Government College of Technology (GCT), was arrested on January 5, 2018, while running towards a checkpoint. He had a pistol and a long-range rifle on his person. "We checked the man's age using an identity card and school certificate. We checked his current age through his school record and his family's documents. His date of birth is on the same day as the man's photograph. It is very strange that the accused was around 19 years old when we arrested him," Mishra added. Also read |After arrest, Maoist finds bright future with alleged Susnag-Jharkhand gang Police officers who are familiar with the new weapon laws in the country say that even though a man may be under 19 years old, he cannot legally own a pistol. "In this case, it is possible that the man might have not registered the
